Bunny's birthday!

Went to Professor Brawn Cafe two days ago to celebrate Lingen's birthday. Boy, that place is lovely! I wonder why there aren't many people there because the food is great, the service is WOW, fantastic.

I love the place and I swear I'm going back again soon! The cafe is a Social Enterprise. Frankly speaking, I think the waiter or waitresses there can work in any other restaurants. The service is aweeesome (and ykwn as a tourism student you tend to focus a lot on services - ok maybe it's just me - but a place attracts me largely due to good service) The food is a plus point, I love the black pepper sausage I ate. The photos are all with Yuwei... Which won't be uploaded till LONG TIME LATER. Hahahaha that's what happens when she has the photos in hand. Hehe.

Ohya, the cafe is so cute. They have polaroid photos of all the staff, they have their menus in such cute files that I thought I was reading a book in the Harry Potter Movie!

Take a look a look at the menu. So cute so cute. The modules shit HAHAHAHA ok I think only I find it adorable.

ENOUGH OF THE PLACE! I loveeee my babes. LOL. Had so much fun talking and stuff. Everytime I meet em I feel love in the air. Like they are my true love and I will live with em forever. #truefact101

Idk if she likes our little get together on her birthday for a dinner or not, but if that's for me, I think I'll be more than happy. Gifts? Not necessary. Their time and smiles are what matters more to me. Okay no I hate sentimental posts makes me want to cry.

Tudos! Short post but whatever. I can't sleep
